Boyer takes lead in Swami Slam

By The Swami

Pigskin Prognosticator

Casey Boyer could have been the first person to have a perfect week, but he had the misfortune of forgetting to pick Monday night's game. I picked it for him and he lost. Sorry!

Boyer ended up in a tie with Dave Grieve, John Hearn and Matt Mercer. And the winner is...John Hearn. Hearn had the closest tiebreaker score. All four of these amateur swamis had impressive records of 12-1. That has been the best this year. Just think, Boyer, what could have been the first perfect week. Go ahead, blame your wife. Good thing I was not giving away the million dollars this week! Hearn has won a lunch buffet from the Charleston Club.

Boyer is the current overall leader of the Swami Slam. Do not get too comfortable, though. I am right on the heels of everyone. Posted below are the top ten pickers with their records. This is after six weeks of action and a minimum of four weeks participation.

Some people out there have some good records but not enough weeks to qualify. Remember that you must play at least 11 of the 17 weeks to have a chance at the galore of grand prizes. For those of you lazy ones out there, you can e-mail your picks in to dispatch@charleston.af.mil.

This one retired person, who calls himself the "Lovegod," faxes his picks in. Boy, are they sloppy! He talks a lot of trash also. He must hang out with John Woodruff. Woodruff likes to send in some snickering comments every week.

One last thing before I close, I am ranked number 37 (and moving up fast) with my record of 43-43. The person at the back of the pack is Brian Welch.

Hang in there, you will be as good as me one day.

Oh yeah, GO YANKEES!!

Standings:

1. Casey Boyer	56-30
2. Earl Parmenter	55-31
3. Rick Edwards	45-26
4. John Woodruff	54-32
5. Allison Bethea	35-21
6. Benny Harvey	36-22
7. John Hearn	53-33
8. Chuck Navitsky	53-33
9. Warren Scott	51-35
10. John Canter	51-35
